Empowering Rural Bharat through the Education of the Girl Child

When we educate a girl, we empower a generation. Girls' education is not just a social commitment but a catalyst for rural transformation. Empowered daughters build empowered villages, shaping the foundation of a Viksit Bharat.

Shri Narendra Modi ji,
Hon'ble Prime Minister of India

A self-reliant model for holistic rural transformation.

The Context

- India's commitment to gender equity through education.
- National Female Literacy Rate (2022): 70.3%
- Uttar Pradesh Female Literacy Rate: 63.4%
- Saharanpur District Female Literacy: ~56.5%
- Major barriers: Poverty, early marriage, safety, social norms

Shobhit University addresses these barriers in a regional context through structured interventions.

The Challenge in Western UP

- Rural dropout rate among girls post-Class 10 is over 40%
- Less than 20% of rural Muslim girls pursue higher education
- Saharanpur Commissionerate lacked a higher technical institution before 2000
- Local families hesitant to send daughters to distant cities

Shobhit University Gangoh: A Rural Response to a National Mission – Girl Child Empowerment through Education

- Established in 2012 by NICE Society Trust
- Located in rural Gangoh to bring higher education to village doorsteps
- Emphasis on first-generation learners, especially girls
- Curriculum combines traditional knowledge (Ayurveda, Naturopathy, Yoga, Agriculture) with modern disciplines (Pharmacy, Law, Engineering and Management)

Philosophy: Loud Dreams, Real Change

Our Guiding Philosophy

- Shout Your Dreams Loud – Every student is encouraged to dream fearlessly.
- Turning Potential into Reality – Mentoring, supporting, and celebrating each success.
- Campus to Community – Students carry values back to their villages.
- A University for Rural Bharat – Transforming lives, families, and regions.

Every scholarship, every classroom, every outreach – builds a new India.

Our Distinctiveness: Not Just Education – A Rural Movement of Empowerment

- First University in Saharanpur Commissionary
- 100% of outreach and scholarships funded internally
- Focus on girl child empowerment, especially from minority communities
- Institutional culture rooted in social values and NEP 2020 alignment.

Accessibility Interventions

- Village shuttle buses, affordable hostels, decentralized admissions outreach.
- Outreach to Hindi / Urdu-medium rural schools.
- Bridge Courses for language and confidence
- Result: Female enrollment increased 5x from 2015 to 2025

Affordability: University Funded Scholarships

- Adarsh Vidyadhan Samman – 20% tuition waiver for all girls enrolled.
- Babu Vijendra Shourya Samman –100% freeship for martyr's daughters
- Around 25% of total students receive scholarships
- No student turned away due to financial inability

“The philosophy as stated by our Chancellor is that financial constraints should never hinder a deserving student’s education”.

Social Impact: Health, Rights, and Confidence

- 60+ legal awareness camps on women's rights
- Menstrual hygiene workshops, nutrition drives, anemia screening
- Village-level Beti Padhao Chaupal campaigns
- Improved female health literacy and delayed marriage age

Minority Inclusion – Empowerment Beyond Literacy

- Flexible and inclusive culture on the campus.
- Over 30% of girl students from minority backgrounds
- First Muslim women lawyers, teachers, judiciary officers, and government servants from surrounding villages.

Tangible Results (2015–2025)

- Female literacy in Gangoh and nearby villages rose by 10%+
- Girls comprise approximate 1/3rd of total enrollment
- 100s of women employed in teaching, health care, entrepreneurship
- Reduced migration – local families now prefer daughters study locally

Model of Sustainable Empowerment

- Embedded in participating governance and action plans
- No dependency on external NGOs or CSR funds
- ‘Pay-it-forward’ model through alumni mentoring and funding
- Expansion plan includes skill centers, online access for married women

Conclusion: A National Vision Rooted in Rural Soil

- Shobhit University Gangoh embodies the spirit of NEP 2020 and the PM's call for 'Nari Shakti'.
- It is not merely an educational institution — it is a movement transforming villages.
- Our girls don't just earn degrees. They carry the future of Bharat.
