Summary

During the six-month internship, the intern actively participated in the diagnosis, treatment, and management of patients under the supervision of senior doctors. The following key clinical activities were undertaken:

- IPD & OPD Records Maintenance: Discuss the importance of maintaining accurate, organized, and up-to-date records for both departments to ensure quality care and efficient operations. This included maintaining detailed records of patients' responses to Ayurvedic treatments, ensuring proper follow-up care, and contributing to hospital research data.
- Panchkarma Procedures: Panchakarma is a traditional Ayurvedic detoxification and rejuvenation treatment aimed at cleansing the body and restoring balance. It involves a series of therapeutic procedures that eliminate toxins (Ama) from the body and promote overall wellness. The purpose of the internship was to gain practical experience in the application of Panchakarma therapies, understand the role of Panchakarma in Ayurvedic medicine, and observe how it helps in promoting health and treating various ailments.
- Surgical & OT Assistance: The role of surgical and OT assistance is crucial in ensuring the smooth functioning of the operation theatre (OT) during surgical procedures. The intern's primary responsibility is to assist in the surgical environment, help maintain sterility, prepare equipment, and support the surgical team in a variety of tasks before, during, and after surgery. The purpose of this internship was to gain hands-on experience in a real-time surgical environment, observe surgical procedures, understand the roles of different team members, and contribute to the preparation and assistance in surgeries under supervision.
- Special Case Discussions & Demonstrations: During the internship, the focus was on observing, participating in, and learning from clinical case discussions and live demonstrations, which provide in-depth understanding and hands-on learning of rare, complex, or unique medical conditions. The purpose of the internship was to enhance clinical knowledge by participating in special case discussions, learning from medical professionals, and observing live demonstrations of various medical procedures or conditions, which are typically outside the scope of everyday patient cases.
- Women's Health & Maternity Care: It focuses on balancing the body, mind, and spirit using herbal remedies, diet, lifestyle changes, and specific therapies to support reproductive health, pregnancy, childbirth, and post-partum recovery. This included learning about the management of menstrual health, pregnancy care, labor, postpartum recovery, and overall reproductive health through Ayurvedic treatments and therapies.

- OPD & IPD Management: Interns were responsible for attending outpatient and inpatient departments, assisting in patient consultations, history taking, and preliminary examinations. Explaining process of analyzing a patient's constitution (dosha analysis) through questioning, pulse reading, and tongue inspection.
- IPD & OPD Records Maintenance: Interns diligently documented patient case histories, progress notes, and treatment plans. This included maintaining detailed records of patients' responses to Ayurvedic treatments, ensuring proper follow-up care, and contributing to hospital research data.
- Panchkarma Procedures: Gaining hands-on experience in the five key Ayurvedic cleansing therapies - Vamana (induced vomiting), Virechana (purgation), Basti (enema), Nasya (nasal instillation), and Raktamokshana (bloodletting) - allowing students to learn the theory behind each procedure, patient assessment to determine appropriate therapies, proper administration techniques, and post-treatment care, all while observing and assisting with full Panchakarma treatment protocols in a clinical setting.
- Surgical & OT Assistance: Primarily focuses on learning and assisting with various minimally invasive surgical procedures based on Ayurvedic principles, including techniques like Kshara Karma, Kshara Sutra, Agnikarma, Raktamokshana, Jalaukavacharana, and Siravyadhana, while adhering to sterile practices and proper patient management under the guidance of a qualified Ayurvedic surgeon, all while documenting procedures and patient progress according to Ayurvedic protocol.
- Women's Health & Maternity Care: In the Prasuti Tantra department, interns engaged in antenatal and postnatal care, assisted in deliveries, and provided Ayurvedic support for gynecological disorders. They learned about Ayurvedic management of pregnancy-related complications and the role of herbal formulations in maternal and child health.
- Special Case Discussions & Demonstrations: Interns attended and participated in discussions on complex and rare cases, presenting case studies and engaging in knowledge exchange with faculty members. The sessions offered an in-depth understanding of rare and complex cases in Human body's health and care, providing practical insights into Ayurvedic disease management and patient care. They also observed live demonstrations of Ayurvedic procedures, gaining practical exposure to disease management and patient care.
