Report on World Hindi Day 2023

Date : 11.01.2023

World Hindi Day is a significant occasion that celebrates the richness, heritage, and global importance of the Hindi language. On this prestigious occasion, the School of Law & Constitutional Studies at Shobhit University, Gangoh, hosted a grand celebration to honor and promote the linguistic and cultural essence of Hindi. The event was graced by distinguished academicians, faculty members, students, and invited dignitaries who gathered to commemorate this day with enthusiasm and reverence.

The program commenced with a warm and cordial welcome extended by Prof. Gunjan Agarwal, who expressed her heartfelt greetings to all the esteemed guests, faculty members, and students present at the gathering. She emphasized the importance of the Hindi language, highlighting its historical significance, cultural depth, and role as a unifying force in India and beyond. She remarked that Hindi is not just a means of communication but also a repository of rich literature, traditions, and values that have been passed down through generations. She extended her gratitude to the university administration for organizing this meaningful event that underscores the prominence of Hindi in academia and society.

The event was further graced by the presence of Vice Chancellor, Prof. Ranjit Singh, who delivered an inspiring address to the audience. In his speech, he acknowledged the global outreach of Hindi and its growing prominence as an international language. He wished everyone on this special occasion and emphasized the responsibility of educational institutions in fostering linguistic and cultural appreciation. He reiterated the university's commitment to promoting Hindi literature, linguistic research, and encouraging students to embrace their native language with pride and confidence.

Following this, Registrar, Prof. Mahipal Singh, took the stage and extended his best wishes to all attendees. He expressed his delight at witnessing the active participation of students and faculty members in this celebration. He elaborated on the evolution of Hindi as a language and its contributions to literature, administration, and daily communication. He highlighted the significance of such events in encouraging the younger generation to engage with Hindi not just in their academic pursuits but also in their personal and professional lives. He urged everyone to take pride in their linguistic heritage and continue working towards the enrichment and global promotion of Hindi.

The event comprised various engaging activities that resonated with the theme of promoting Hindi. Students participated enthusiastically in poetry recitations, essay writing competitions, and eloquent speeches that paid tribute to the beauty and expressiveness of Hindi. Several eminent scholars and professors took the opportunity to share their insights on the linguistic evolution, historical journey, and future potential of Hindi as a dominant language on the global stage.

One of the highlights of the celebration was an enlightening panel discussion, where experts from the field of linguistics, literature, and law deliberated on the importance of Hindi in legal and constitutional discourse. They discussed how Hindi plays a crucial role in legal proceedings, governance, and policy-making in India. The panelists emphasized the need to promote the use of Hindi in legal education and judicial administration to ensure that justice is accessible to a larger population.

The event also featured a thought-provoking documentary presentation that showcased the historical development of Hindi, its literary treasures, and its impact on Indian culture. The documentary shed light on the contributions of eminent Hindi writers, poets, and scholars who have played a significant role in shaping the language into what it is today. The visual representation of Hindi's journey captivated the audience and reinforced the significance of preserving and promoting the language.

As the program progressed, several faculty members and students came forward to share their experiences and perspectives on Hindi. Some recounted personal anecdotes about how Hindi has influenced their lives, while others spoke about its role in national unity and identity. The atmosphere was filled with a sense of appreciation and admiration for the language, fostering a collective resolve to uphold its legacy.

Towards the conclusion of the event, certificates of appreciation were distributed to participants who showcased exceptional performances in various competitions. The winners of the essay writing and poetry competitions were felicitated for their outstanding contributions. This gesture served as an encouragement for students to continue exploring and expressing themselves through Hindi.

The celebration of World Hindi Day at the School of Law & Constitutional Studies, Shobhit University, Gangoh, was a resounding success. It was a day marked by intellectual discussions, creative expressions, and heartfelt tributes to Hindi. The event not only reinforced the significance of Hindi but also inspired attendees to actively engage in its promotion and preservation. As the gathering ended, a collective sentiment of linguistic pride and cultural appreciation resonated among all present, leaving a lasting impact on their minds and hearts.

In summary, this celebration was a testament to the enduring relevance and vitality of Hindi as a language that continues to bridge generations, communities, and cultures. It served as a reminder that languages are not just tools of communication but also carriers of history, identity, and expression. The event reinforced the idea that by celebrating and nurturing our linguistic heritage, we contribute to a richer, more inclusive, and culturally vibrant society.

Report on celebration of birth anniversary of Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose 2023

Date : 24.01.2023

The Birth Anniversary of Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose was commemorated with great enthusiasm and reverence at Shobhit University, Gangoh, on January 23, 2023. The event was organized to honor and celebrate the life, legacy, and immense contribution of Netaji towards India's freedom struggle. The occasion witnessed an enthusiastic participation of faculty members, students, and distinguished guests who gathered to pay tribute to one of India's greatest freedom fighters.

The event commenced with a solemn and respectful remembrance of Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose, whose leadership and vision played a crucial role in India's independence movement. The university campus was adorned with banners, portraits, and quotes of Netaji, creating an atmosphere of patriotic fervor and admiration. The event began with a ceremonial lamp-lighting, symbolizing the eternal light of knowledge, courage, and sacrifice that Netaji embodied throughout his life.

Vice Chancellor, Prof. Ranjit Singh, addressed the gathering with an inspiring speech that delved into the remarkable life and ideology of Netaji. He emphasized the unparalleled determination, bravery, and strategic acumen that Netaji demonstrated in his relentless pursuit of India's freedom. Prof. Singh highlighted how Netaji's famous slogan, "Give me blood, and I will give you freedom," continues to inspire generations of Indians to uphold the values of patriotism, selflessness, and resilience. He urged students to draw inspiration from Netaji's dedication and adopt his ideals in their academic and professional lives.

Prof. Singh further elaborated on Netaji's role in forming the Azad Hind Fauj (Indian National Army) and how his leadership played a pivotal role in instilling a sense of unity and national pride among Indians. He pointed out that Netaji was not just a revolutionary but also a visionary leader who understood the significance of armed struggle and international alliances in India's fight for independence. He concluded his speech by reminding the audience that true patriotism lies in contributing to the progress and welfare of the nation through dedication, hard work, and a commitment to ethical values.

Following the Vice Chancellor's address, the Registrar, Prof. Mahipal Singh, took the stage to share his thoughts on the extraordinary life of Netaji. He reflected on Netaji's early life, education, and his eventual journey into the realm of national service. Prof. Singh underscored Netaji's courage in challenging British rule and his strategic diplomatic efforts to garner international support for India's independence. He also acknowledged the sacrifices made by Netaji and his followers, emphasizing that their unwavering determination should serve as a guiding light for today's youth.

Prof. Singh highlighted the importance of remembering and learning from historical figures like Netaji, whose sacrifices have laid the foundation for modern India. He called upon students and young scholars to delve deeper into India's history, understand the struggles of the past, and work towards making India a self-reliant and prosperous nation. His words resonated deeply with the audience, instilling a sense of responsibility and pride in their cultural and national heritage.

Adding to the discourse, Caretaker Sufi Zahir Akhtar also addressed the gathering, sharing insightful thoughts on the contributions of Netaji to the independence movement. He spoke about Netaji's ideology of inclusivity and unity, stressing that he was a leader who believed in the power of collective effort and national integration. Sufi Akhtar elaborated on Netaji's belief that true freedom is achieved not just by breaking the chains of colonial rule but also by ensuring social justice, equality, and empowerment for all sections of society.

He also shared anecdotes from Netaji's life, illustrating his deep sense of discipline, dedication, and relentless spirit. Sufi Akhtar emphasized the need to uphold these qualities in contemporary society, especially among the younger generation, who are the future torchbearers of the nation. He encouraged students to imbibe the spirit of perseverance and integrity in their personal and professional lives, as these are the true pillars of nation-building.

As the event progressed, several activities were organized to engage students and faculty members in reflecting upon Netaji's vision and values. A special documentary screening showcased key moments of Netaji's life, his leadership of the Indian National Army, and his undying commitment to India's freedom. The documentary provided an in-depth look at his journey, from being an exceptional student to becoming one of the most revered revolutionaries in Indian history.

Following the screening, a panel discussion was conducted where eminent scholars and faculty members shared their perspectives on Netaji's impact on India's freedom movement and his lasting influence on contemporary Indian politics. The discussion focused on how Netaji's principles of self-reliance, national unity, and strong leadership are relevant in today's world. The panelists encouraged students to take inspiration from his life and contribute positively to society through education, social service, and civic responsibility.

One of the most engaging segments of the event was an essay writing competition where students were invited to express their thoughts on the theme, "Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose: The Leader Who Inspired a Nation." The participants eloquently articulated their admiration for Netaji, analyzing his contributions from multiple perspectives—historical, political, and philosophical. The best essays were awarded prizes, recognizing the students' efforts in keeping the spirit of Netaji's ideals alive.

In addition, a poetry recitation session was organized, where students and faculty members recited patriotic poems inspired by Netaji's courage and determination. The session was filled

Celebration of National Voters Day 2023

Date : 26.01.2023

National Voters Day was celebrated with great enthusiasm by the School of Law & Constitutional Studies at Shobhit University, Gangoh, on November 25, 2023. The event was organized to raise awareness about the importance of voting and to encourage students and faculty members to actively participate in the democratic process. The celebration aimed to highlight the role of voters in shaping the nation's future and to instill a sense of responsibility among young citizens.

The event commenced with a warm welcome extended by Dr. Usman Ullah Khan, Coordinator of the School of Law & Constitutional Studies. In his opening remarks, Dr. Khan emphasized the significance of voting in a democracy and how every individual's vote contributes to the governance and development of the country. He spoke about the historical background of National Voters Day and the need to spread awareness about electoral participation, especially among first-time voters. Dr. Khan also extended his gratitude to the university administration and dignitaries for supporting the initiative and encouraging students to become active participants in the democratic process.

Following the welcome address, Vice Chancellor, Prof. Ranjit Singh, addressed the gathering with an insightful speech on the relevance of the program. He emphasized the importance of informed voting and the role of education in creating responsible citizens. He discussed the fundamental rights and duties of voters and how a well-informed electorate can lead to the development of a strong and transparent government system. Prof. Singh highlighted the need for voter awareness campaigns and encouraged students to take the pledge to exercise their franchise in every election. He also spoke about the significance of National Voters Day in strengthening the democratic fabric of the nation and ensuring greater participation in the electoral process.

The Registrar, Prof. Mahipal Singh, also shared his thoughts on the occasion, addressing the audience about the responsibility that comes with the right to vote. He explained how democracy thrives when citizens actively engage in the electoral process and make informed choices. Prof. Singh emphasized the importance of ethical voting and urged students to take their role as future voters seriously. He also highlighted various electoral reforms and initiatives taken by the Election Commission of India to enhance voter participation and ensure free and fair elections.

The event featured a series of engaging activities, including discussions, debates, and an interactive session where students had the opportunity to express their views on the importance of voting. A special presentation was conducted to showcase the evolution of the electoral process in India and the various measures taken to increase voter participation over the years.

Report on National Science Day Celebration 2023

Date : 01.03.2023

Introduction

National Science Day is observed every year on February 28th to commemorate the discovery of the Raman Effect by the renowned Indian physicist Sir C.V. Raman. The day is celebrated to recognize and encourage scientific awareness, research, and innovations. On February 28, 2023, the School of Engineering and Technology at Shobhit University, Gangoh, enthusiastically organized National Science Day celebrations within its premises. The event was graced by esteemed dignitaries, faculty members, and students who actively participated in various scientific activities. The occasion provided an excellent platform for students to exhibit their scientific acumen and engage in knowledge-sharing sessions.

Welcome Address and Opening Remarks The program commenced with a warm welcome address by Prof. Jasvir Singh Rana, who extended his greetings to the chief guest, Vice Chancellor Prof. Ranjit Singh, as well as other dignitaries, faculty members, and students. In his opening remarks, Prof. Rana highlighted the significance of National Science Day and how scientific innovations contribute to the growth and development of society. He emphasized the importance of inculcating scientific temper among students and encouraged them to take inspiration from the achievements of great scientists like Sir C.V. Raman.

Vice Chancellor's Address Following the opening remarks, Vice Chancellor Prof. Ranjit Singh addressed the gathering. He spoke about the legacy of Sir C.V. Raman and his groundbreaking discovery of the Raman Effect, which earned him the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1930. Prof. Singh underlined the role of science and technology in shaping modern society and urged students to embrace research and innovation. He also encouraged them to develop critical thinking and problem-solving skills to contribute effectively to the scientific community.

Speeches by Other Dignitaries Registrar Prof. Mahipal Singh and Care Taker Sufi Zahir Akhtar also delivered inspiring speeches on the occasion. Prof. Mahipal Singh emphasized the role of scientific advancements in various fields and how technological progress has improved human life. He also motivated students to participate in research activities and contribute to the nation's scientific endeavors. Sufi Zahir Akhtar, in his address, spoke about the importance of curiosity and continuous learning in scientific pursuits. He encouraged students to explore new ideas, experiment with innovative solutions, and develop a passion for science.

Student Participation and Scientific Demonstrations

One of the major highlights of the celebration was the enthusiastic participation of students in various scientific activities. Students showcased their innovative scientific models, research projects, and presentations on a wide range of topics. The exhibits included working models on renewable energy, robotics, artificial intelligence, and environmental conservation, among others.

Several students presented their research findings through posters and PowerPoint presentations, explaining the scientific concepts and their practical applications. The interactive demonstrations and discussions allowed students to engage with faculty members and peers, facilitating knowledge exchange and idea generation.

Science Quiz and Competitions To make the event more engaging and intellectually stimulating, several competitions were organized for students. A science quiz was conducted, testing the participants' knowledge of various scientific principles, discoveries, and inventions. The quiz generated immense enthusiasm among students, as they eagerly participated and showcased their understanding of scientific concepts.

In addition to the quiz, competitions such as model-making, poster presentations, and essay writing were held. These activities encouraged students to think creatively and express their ideas in an innovative manner. The winners were felicitated with certificates and awards, recognizing their efforts and achievements.

Panel Discussion on Scientific Innovations A panel discussion was organized as part of the celebration, featuring faculty members and research scholars who shared their insights on contemporary scientific advancements. The discussion revolved around topics such as the impact of artificial intelligence, the future of space exploration, and sustainable development through science and technology. The panelists also addressed students' queries and provided valuable guidance on pursuing careers in science and research.

Interactive Session with Faculty Members An interactive session was conducted where students had the opportunity to interact with faculty members and experts in the field of science and technology. The session provided a platform for students to seek guidance on research opportunities, higher studies, and career prospects in scientific domains. Faculty members shared their experiences and motivated students to develop a research-oriented mindset.

Cultural Segment and Conclusion To add a cultural essence to the celebration, students also performed science-themed skits and presentations, emphasizing the role of science in everyday life. The creative performances highlighted how scientific discoveries have transformed society and improved human living standards.

The event concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by a faculty member, expressing gratitude to the chief guest, dignitaries, faculty members, and students for their active participation and

Report on International Day of Yoga Celebration 2023

Date : 22.06.2023

Introduction

International Day of Yoga, observed annually on June 21st, is a global initiative that promotes the physical, mental, and spiritual benefits of practicing yoga. The day is dedicated to raising awareness about the importance of yoga in achieving a healthy and balanced lifestyle. On June 21, 2023, the School of Naturopathy, a constituent of Shobhit University, Gangoh, organized a grand celebration to mark this occasion. The event witnessed active participation from faculty members, students, and yoga enthusiasts who gathered to perform various yoga asanas and understand the significance of yoga in daily life.

Inauguration and Opening Address

The event began with an inauguration ceremony led by distinguished faculty members and organizers. The program started with a brief introduction about the history and importance of International Day of Yoga. A senior faculty member from the School of Naturopathy addressed the gathering and highlighted the benefits of yoga in maintaining physical fitness, reducing stress, and enhancing overall well-being. The opening address emphasized the relevance of integrating yoga into daily routines for a healthier and more mindful lifestyle.

Mass Yoga Session

A key highlight of the event was a large-scale yoga session where faculty members, students, and staff members participated in performing different yoga postures. Under the guidance of experienced yoga instructors, the participants practiced various asanas, including:

- Tadasana (Mountain Pose) – to improve posture and balance.
- Vrikshasana (Tree Pose) – for stability and concentration.
- Bhujangasana (Cobra Pose) – to strengthen the back and reduce stress.
- Surya Namaskar (Sun Salutation) – a series of twelve yoga postures promoting flexibility and energy balance.
- Pranayama (Breathing Exercises) – focusing on controlled breathing to enhance mental clarity and relaxation.

The yoga session provided a refreshing experience for participants, who expressed enthusiasm and commitment to incorporating yoga into their lifestyles.

- Sufi Zahir Akhtar, the Caretaker of the University, shared his thoughts on the selfless service of doctors and their contributions to society. He spoke about the ethical responsibilities of healthcare professionals and the importance of compassion in medical practice. His words resonated with the audience, inspiring the young minds to imbibe the values of commitment and service.

Acknowledging the Contributions of Doctors

As part of the celebration, the School of Ayurveda acknowledged the dedication of its faculty members and medical practitioners who have made remarkable contributions to the field of Ayurveda. A special felicitation ceremony was held to honor distinguished doctors for their outstanding service and commitment to patient care and medical education.

Several faculty members and students shared their experiences and expressed their gratitude towards the doctors and mentors who have guided them in their academic and professional journeys. The event provided an opportunity for students to reflect on the impact of doctors in society and their role in shaping a healthier future.

Cultural Program and Student Participation

The event also featured a cultural segment, where students of the School of Ayurveda performed skits and presented speeches highlighting the significance of Ayurveda and the role of doctors in healthcare. A thought-provoking presentation on the "Relevance of Ayurveda in the 21st Century" was delivered by a group of students, showcasing the growing acceptance of traditional medicine in contemporary healthcare systems.

Students also recited poems and shared anecdotes about renowned Ayurvedic practitioners who have made significant contributions to medical science. The performances and presentations reflected the enthusiasm of the students in honoring the medical profession.

Vote of Thanks

The celebration concluded with a formal vote of thanks proposed by Prof. Vikas Kumar Sharma, Dean of the School of Ayurveda. He expressed gratitude to the Vice Chancellor, Registrar, Caretaker, faculty members, students, and staff for their active participation and support in making the event a success. He highlighted the importance of such celebrations in fostering a sense of appreciation and responsibility among future healthcare professionals.

In his concluding remarks, Prof. Sharma reiterated the importance of ethics and dedication in the medical profession. He encouraged students to take inspiration from the great Ayurvedic scholars and practitioners who have dedicated their lives to the service of humanity.

Student Presentations and Cultural Activities

To encourage student participation, a heritage-themed presentation competition was organized. Students presented their research on different historical monuments, cultural practices, and traditional crafts. The presentations highlighted UNESCO World Heritage Sites both in India and worldwide, focusing on their historical significance and the threats they face from urbanization and climate change.

In addition, cultural performances, including traditional folk dances, poetry recitations, and storytelling sessions, were held to celebrate the diversity of heritage. These performances showcased cultural traditions passed down through generations, creating a vibrant and engaging atmosphere throughout the event.

Heritage Awareness Exhibition

A heritage exhibition was set up, featuring artifacts, photographs, and research materials related to ancient architecture, traditional crafts, and historical landmarks. The exhibition attracted a large number of students and faculty, providing them with a unique opportunity to explore and appreciate the beauty of cultural heritage.

Conclusion

The World Heritage Day celebration at Shobhit University, Gangoh, successfully raised awareness about the importance of preserving cultural and historical sites. The event instilled a sense of responsibility among students and faculty to contribute to heritage conservation. Through the discussions, presentations, and exhibitions, participants gained valuable insights into the rich cultural legacy of humanity and the need to protect it for future generations. The event concluded on a positive note, reinforcing the commitment to promoting heritage education and sustainable conservation efforts in the years ahead.

Report on International Literacy Day Celebration by School of Law & Constitutional Studies 2023

Date : 09.09.2023

International Literacy Day was celebrated with great enthusiasm by the School of Law & Constitutional Studies on September 8, 2023. The event aimed to raise awareness about the importance of literacy and education in transforming lives and building a better society. To mark the occasion, literacy camps were organized in nearby villages, where faculty members and students engaged with the local community to emphasize the significance of education.

Objective of the Celebration The primary objective of celebrating International Literacy Day was to highlight the crucial role of literacy in socio-economic development. The event focused on encouraging villagers to embrace education as a fundamental right and an essential tool for empowerment. Through interactive sessions, informative discussions, and engaging activities, the initiative aimed to motivate people, especially children and women, to pursue literacy.

Literacy Camps in Villages As part of the celebration, literacy camps were organized in multiple villages surrounding the university. The activities conducted in these camps included:

1. Awareness Sessions – Law students and faculty members conducted interactive sessions with villagers, explaining the importance of education in enhancing economic stability, personal growth, and social awareness.
2. Basic Literacy Training – Volunteers provided basic reading and writing lessons to children and adults who had little or no access to formal education.
3. Legal Literacy Awareness – Since the event was led by the School of Law & Constitutional Studies, a special segment focused on legal literacy. Villagers were informed about their fundamental rights, legal aid services, and government schemes available to promote education.
4. Storytelling and Motivational Talks – Stories of individuals who overcame challenges through education were shared to inspire the local community. Faculty members and students delivered motivational talks emphasizing how literacy can open doors to better opportunities.
5. Distribution of Learning Materials – To encourage continuous learning, the university distributed notebooks, pens, books, and other educational materials to the children and adults who participated in the camps.
6. One-on-One Counselling – Personalized guidance was provided to individuals interested in enrolling in adult education programs or sending their children to school.

Community Engagement and Response The response from the villagers was overwhelmingly positive. Many parents expressed their willingness to educate their children after understanding the long-term benefits of literacy. Several individuals showed interest in joining adult education programs, and some village elders pledged their support in spreading awareness further. The interactive approach of the literacy camps created a welcoming environment, making learning accessible and enjoyable for all participants.

Participation of Faculty and Students The success of the event was largely attributed to the active participation of faculty members and students from the School of Law & Constitutional Studies. Their dedication and efforts in educating and inspiring the local community were commendable. The law students played a crucial role in bridging the knowledge gap by simplifying complex legal and educational information for the villagers. The faculty members provided expert guidance, ensuring that the information shared was accurate and impactful.

The celebration of International Literacy Day by the School of Law & Constitutional Studies was a significant step towards promoting literacy and education among underprivileged communities. The event not only created awareness but also instilled a sense of responsibility among students to contribute to society meaningfully. The literacy camps served as a powerful reminder that education is a fundamental human right and a key to personal and societal progress. Moving forward, the institution aims to continue such initiatives to strengthen the literacy movement and contribute to the betterment of society.
