Seminar on Legal Awareness and Women's Rights in India

06-07-2022

Date of Program: 05-07-2022

Venue: Seminar Hall, Department of Pharmacy

Organized by: Women Empowerment Cell

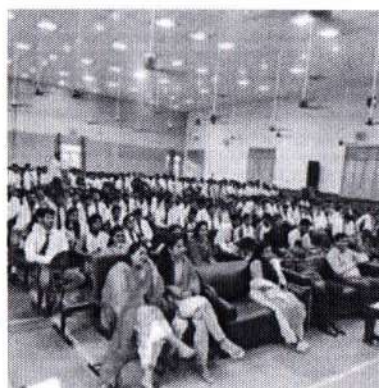

Objective: To create awareness among students, especially female students, about the legal provisions available in India for the protection and empowerment of women.

Resource Person: Dr Madan Kaushik, AVIPS, SUG.

Brief Description:

The seminar covered various acts such as the Domestic Violence Act, Dowry Prohibition Act, and workplace harassment laws. Real-life case studies and interactive Q&A made the session highly engaging. The seminar aimed to equip students with practical tools to assert their rights in real-life situations. Feedback from attendees showed an enhanced willingness to support peers facing legal challenges.

Outcome: Students became more aware of their legal rights and the support mechanisms available for women. Many participants expressed increased confidence in addressing legal challenges. The session also encouraged peer support and proactive engagement with legal resources. Students were motivated to disseminate the knowledge gained within their communities. The seminar fostered a sense of responsibility among students to stand up against injustice and promote legal literacy.

Workshop on Building Self-Confidence and Communication Skills

19-08-2022

Date of Program: 18-08-2022

Venue: University Seminar Hall

Organized by: Women Empowerment Cell

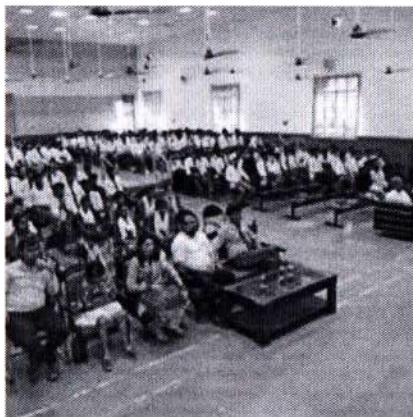

Objective: To help students, especially girls, enhance their self-confidence and communication abilities through practical training.

Resource Person: Prof. Dr. Divya Praksh, Shobhit University, Meerut

Brief Description:

The workshop included confidence-building exercises, group discussions, public speaking drills, and self-assessment tasks. Participants were encouraged to speak about their fears and overcome stage fright. The session also included storytelling and mock interviews to boost real-world communication abilities.

Outcome: Improved self-esteem and communication effectiveness were reported by participants in post-workshop surveys. Students demonstrated greater comfort in expressing their thoughts during academic and informal settings. Several participants noted a significant reduction in their fear of public speaking. The workshop instilled a sense of self-worth and encouraged students to take leadership roles in group activities. Overall, the training enhanced students' readiness for personal and professional communication challenges.

Seminar on Role of Women in Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

29-11-2022

Date of Program: 28-11-2022

Venue: University Seminar Hall

Organized by: Women Empowerment Cell

Objective: To highlight the role of women in achieving SDGs and promoting gender-inclusive development.

Speaker: Dr. Dinesh Dadhichi, Former Professor, Department of Kurukshetra

Brief Description:

The seminar focused on the crucial role of women in advancing Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), particularly in the areas of health, education, economic growth, climate action, and reduced inequalities. Dr. Dinesh Dadhichi delivered an engaging and well-researched presentation using real-life case studies, statistical insights, and global examples of empowered women making transformative impacts. He emphasized that without the active participation of women, the global community cannot attain meaningful and lasting progress on SDGs. The session explored how grassroots leadership among women has led to improved community health, access to education, and ecological sustainability. Interactive discussions encouraged students to reflect on how local initiatives could be aligned with global sustainability agendas

Outcome:

Increased awareness of the intersection of gender and sustainable development was observed among attendees. Several students proposed SDG-themed initiatives and research ideas for community engagement. The session inspired critical thinking on policy development and women's leadership in sustainability. Participants gained clarity on how gender equity contributes to national and global progress. Faculty members also expressed interest in integrating SDG-focused content into academic and outreach programs.

Workshop on Cyber Safety and Digital Security for Women

17-02-2023

Date of Program: 16-02-2023

Venue: University Seminar Hall

Organized by: Women Empowerment Cell

Objective: To educate female students about cyber threats, safe internet practices, and online privacy.

Resource Person: Dr. Varun Bansal, Professor, School of Engineering Technology

Brief Description:

The workshop covered critical topics related to cyber safety, including phishing attacks, online stalking, identity theft, and secure digital behavior. Dr. Varun Bansal conducted live demonstrations to show how cyber threats operate and how users can protect themselves using antivirus software, two-factor authentication, and privacy settings on social media platforms. Students were taught how to create strong passwords, recognize suspicious emails, and report cybercrimes through official channels. The session also addressed digital footprints and encouraged responsible online behavior. Practical handouts and checklists were distributed to help students assess their personal cyber hygiene and apply preventive measures in real-time scenarios.

Outcome:

The workshop significantly enhanced digital awareness among students. Many participants began implementing secure browsing habits and updating their privacy settings. Students reported an improved understanding of cyber laws and how to seek legal help if needed. Post-session feedback indicated that the workshop reduced fear and confusion related to online threats. Several students expressed interest in conducting peer-to-peer awareness drives on cyber safety.

Seminar on Women in Leadership: Challenges and Opportunities

14-06-2023

Date of Program: 13-06-2023

Venue: University Seminar Hall

Organized by: Women Empowerment Cell

Objective: To inspire female students to take leadership roles and understand the challenges they might face.

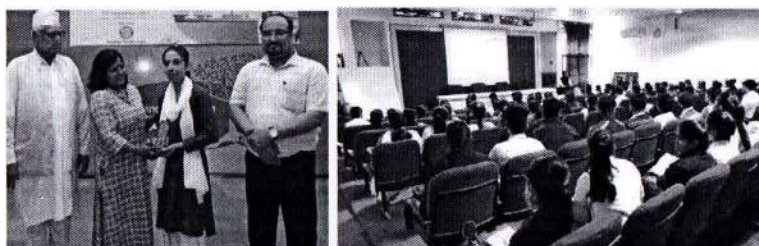

Speaker: Dr. Pooja Jain, Profesor, SGRR Unioversity, Dehradun, Uttarakhand.

Brief Description:

The seminar addressed the importance of women in leadership roles and examined the societal, institutional, and psychological barriers that often impede their progress. Dr. Pooja Jain discussed various leadership case studies, highlighted the impact of gender bias in decision-making environments, and presented empowering strategies to overcome such hurdles. The session showcased prominent Indian women leaders from politics, business, science, and education as role models for aspiring young women. A panel discussion that followed allowed students to collaboratively explore real-world leadership challenges through interactive problem-solving tasks.

Outcome:

Participants were motivated to apply for leadership positions in student bodies and campus clubs. Many students reported a boost in confidence and a shift in their perception of leadership potential. The session encouraged both female and male students to advocate for inclusive practices in institutional governance. Feedback indicated that the seminar provided practical insights and inspiration for leadership development.

Workshop on Financial Literacy and Budgeting for Female Students

22-09-2023

Date of Program: 21-09-2023

Venue: University Seminar Hall

Organized by: Commerce Department in association with Women Empowerment Cell

Objective: To impart financial knowledge on saving, budgeting, and investment to women.

Trainer: Mr. Rajiv Jain, NISM

Brief Description:

The workshop introduced students to core financial literacy concepts including income planning, expenditure tracking, and financial goal setting. Mr. Rajiv Jain conducted interactive simulations on creating personal budgets and emphasized distinguishing between essential needs and discretionary wants. Participants explored digital tools for expense management and were introduced to financial products like mutual funds, recurring deposits, and insurance schemes tailored for beginners. The session also included real-life examples of young women achieving financial independence and highlighted the importance of early saving and investment habits. Practical worksheets were provided for self-tracking and reflection.

Outcome:

Students started maintaining monthly budgets using both manual and digital methods. Several participants opened new savings accounts and initiated SIPs (Systematic Investment Plans). The workshop helped in breaking financial taboos and promoting open discussion about money management among women. Post-session feedback revealed increased interest in learning more about personal finance and long-term planning. The session laid a strong foundation for building financially empowered and responsible individuals.

Seminar on Health, Nutrition, and Hygiene for Women

25-10-2023

Date of Program: 24-10-2023

Venue: University Seminar Hall

Organized by: Women Empowerment Cell

Objective: To educate women about personal hygiene, balanced diet, and preventive health care.

Resource Person: Dr. Gunjan Aggarwal, Shobhit University, Gangoh

Brief Description:

The seminar aimed to enhance students' understanding of essential health practices and nutrition tailored to women's needs. Dr. Gunjan Aggarwal delivered an informative session covering topics such as menstrual hygiene, iron and calcium-rich diets, hydration, and basic exercise routines for maintaining well-being. The issue of anemia, prevalent among young women, was addressed with affordable and locally available dietary solutions. Participants received free health and hygiene kits to reinforce the practical aspects of the session. The seminar concluded with an open discussion where students shared personal experiences and pledged to spread health awareness in their families and local communities.

Outcome:

Improvement in hygiene practices and diet awareness was observed in follow-up feedback. Students began incorporating healthier food options and adopted better menstrual hygiene routines. The session empowered participants with actionable knowledge on self-care and preventive health. Many attendees took initiative to discuss health practices with peers and family members. The seminar contributed to fostering a culture of health consciousness and proactive wellness behavior among students.

Workshop on Personal Branding and Professional Etiquette

15-03-2024

Date of Program: 14-03-2024

Venue: University Seminar Hall- Online event

Organized by: Women Empowerment Cell

Objective: To enhance the personal and professional outlook of female students.

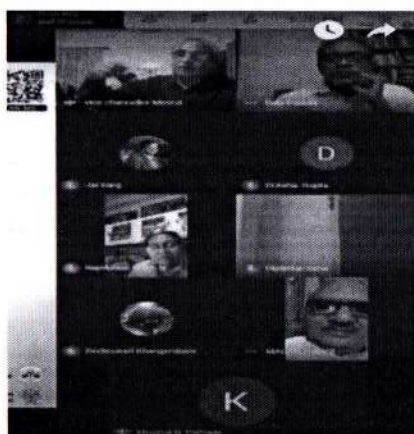

Trainer: Prof. A. P. Garg, Former Vice Chancellor, Shobhit University, Meerut.

Brief Description:

This online workshop aimed at equipping participants with essential skills for professional presentation and workplace behavior. Prof. A. P. Garg delivered practical sessions on dress code, grooming, resume writing, and the art of professional networking. Interactive segments allowed students to practice elevator pitches, participate in mock interviews, and engage in role-plays to simulate real workplace scenarios. Key elements like confident handshake techniques, eye contact, voice modulation, and appropriate posture were demonstrated and practiced live. The session fostered self-awareness, career-oriented thinking, and communication refinement.

Outcome:

Students reported increased confidence in presenting themselves professionally during interviews and formal interactions. Many participants updated their resumes based on the feedback received during the workshop. The event contributed to better preparedness for internships, job interviews, and leadership roles. Students expressed interest in follow-up sessions on workplace communication and leadership grooming. Faculty noted improved articulation and self-presentation among participants in subsequent academic activities.

Seminar on Gender Sensitization and Inclusive Education

07-09-2024

Date of Program: 06-09-2024

Venue: University Seminar Hall

Organized by: IQAC and Women Empowerment Cell

Objective: To sensitize students and faculty on gender equality and inclusive educational practices.

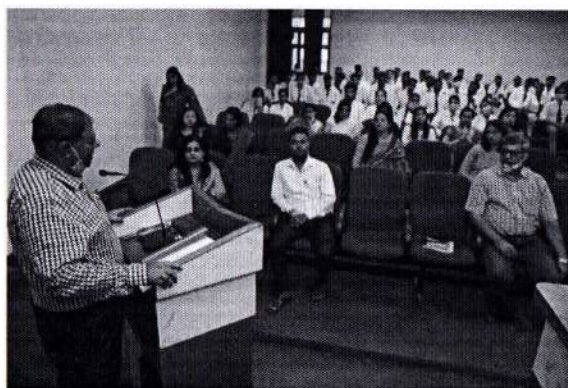

Speaker: Dr. S. K Pathak, Professor, KSVAMC & RC.

Brief Description:

The seminar addressed critical aspects of gender awareness in academic settings. Dr. S. K. Pathak highlighted prevalent gender stereotypes, the impact of unconscious bias in teaching methods, and the necessity of fostering inclusivity in learning environments. Emphasis was placed on designing inclusive curricula, identifying gendered content in textbooks, and modifying classroom dynamics to be more equitable. Faculty members were encouraged to adopt anonymous assessment methods to ensure unbiased evaluations. The interactive discussions provided a platform for students and teachers to share experiences and practical solutions for creating a gender-sensitive campus culture.

Outcome:

Departments began reviewing and revising instructional materials to include gender-neutral language. Faculty expressed commitment to implementing inclusive practices in both curriculum delivery and classroom interactions. Students became more aware of subtle biases and how to address them respectfully. Several departments planned workshops to train staff on gender-inclusive communication. The seminar reinforced the institution's commitment to promoting equality, respect, and inclusiveness in higher education.

Workshop on Entrepreneurship Skills for Aspiring Women Startup

14-01-2025

Date of Program: 13-01-2025

Venue: University Seminar Hall

Organized by: Department of Swasthavrita and Women Empowerment Cell

Objective: To develop entrepreneurial mindsets and skills among women.

Trainer: Dr. Preeti Vasishta, Associate Professor, KSVAMC & RC.

Brief Description:

The workshop aimed at fostering innovation, leadership, and business acumen among aspiring women entrepreneurs. Dr. Preeti Vasishta conducted sessions on idea validation, business model canvas, customer discovery, funding avenues, and pitch preparation. Participants engaged in hands-on activities for designing minimum viable products (MVPs) and identifying potential target audiences. The event also featured guest talks from successful women entrepreneurs who shared their personal startup journeys, including both achievements and challenges. The interactive format encouraged participants to work in groups, develop real-time solutions, and receive feedback from mentors and peers.

Outcome:

Four student groups submitted business proposals for incubation and further mentorship support. Participants reported increased confidence in presenting their business ideas and a better understanding of the startup ecosystem. The session sparked entrepreneurial curiosity and collaborative innovation among the students. Faculty observed a rise in interest toward entrepreneurship as a viable career path. Plans were initiated to integrate entrepreneurship modules into upcoming co-curricular offerings.
