Scholarship awareness drives, mentorship for first-generation learners

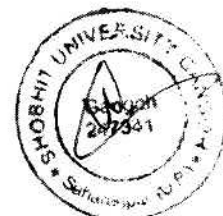

12-03-2022

Date: 11/03/2022

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: The University organizes regular scholarship fairs and orientation programs where students are guided on various central/state/private scholarship schemes. Dedicated faculty mentors are assigned to first-generation learners to provide academic, emotional, and financial guidance throughout their academic journey.

Outcomes: The scholarship awareness drives successfully informed students from economically and socially marginalized backgrounds about available financial assistance schemes at the institutional, state, and national levels. These initiatives increased the number of eligible students applying for scholarships, thereby reducing financial barriers to higher education. The drives promoted equity and inclusiveness by ensuring that deserving students were not denied opportunities due to lack of awareness. As a result, student retention and participation in academic and co-curricular activities saw a notable improvement.

Food & Handicraft Melas (Student-led SHGs or rural products)

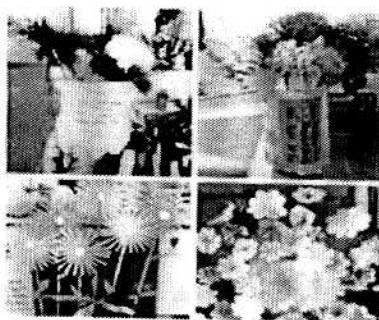

14-09-2022

Date: 12/09/2022

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: The Food and Handicraft Melas organized at Shobhit University, Gangoh serve as vibrant platforms for showcasing traditional rural products and culinary items developed by student-led Self-Help Groups (SHGs) and local artisans. These events aim to promote rural entrepreneurship, cultural heritage, and economic self-reliance among students and community participants. Students take the lead in organizing stalls, marketing products, and interacting with visitors, gaining practical experience in business planning and customer engagement. The melas feature a variety of handmade crafts, organic food items, regional delicacies, and eco-friendly products that reflect India's diverse traditions. Faculty mentors guide the students in areas like pricing, packaging, and sales strategy to enhance their entrepreneurial exposure. The event also encourages collaboration with rural producers, especially women and underprivileged groups, to provide them with better market access.

Outcomes: The melas nurtured entrepreneurial spirit, leadership, and marketing skills among participating students. They also fostered economic inclusion by supporting rural artisans and SHGs, especially from marginalized communities. The initiative created awareness about local heritage and sustainable business practices while strengthening university-community engagement. Overall, the program contributed to experiential learning and the development of socially responsible business models.

Skill Development Workshops for economically weaker sections

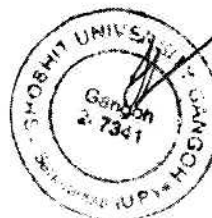

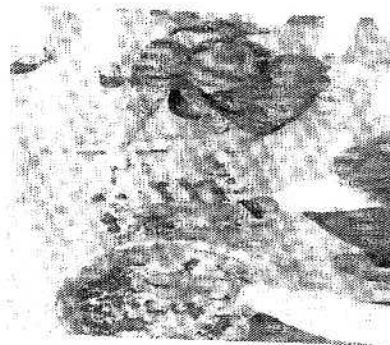

Date: 19/05/2022

20-05-2022

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: The Skill Development Workshops organized for economically weaker sections aim to bridge the gap between academic learning and employability by equipping students with practical, job-oriented skills. Special emphasis is placed on hands-on learning and real-life application to build confidence and competence among participants. The program is designed to empower underprivileged students by enhancing their self-reliance and readiness for employment or self-employment. Expert trainers and faculty members facilitate interactive sessions to ensure personalized learning and mentorship. The initiative reflects the university's commitment to inclusive education and social upliftment through skill empowerment.

Outcomes: The workshops empowered students from economically weaker backgrounds by equipping them with essential skills for employment and entrepreneurship. Participants reported increased confidence in using digital tools, communicating effectively, and preparing for job opportunities. The initiative enhanced their career readiness and reduced skill-based disparities in the student population. It also contributed to the university's vision of promoting inclusive growth and socio-economic upliftment through practical education.

Free yoga and naturopathy camps

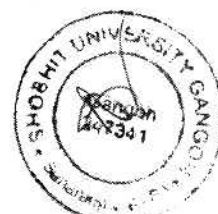

23-05-2022

Date: 21/05/2022

Venue: Jain Kanya Inter College, Sarsawa, UP.

Description: In 2022, Shobhit University, Gangoh organized a series of Free Yoga and Naturopathy Camps as part of its community outreach and wellness promotion initiatives. These camps aimed to spread awareness about the holistic benefits of traditional health practices and encourage healthy lifestyle choices among the local population. Qualified experts conducted sessions on yoga postures (asanas), breathing techniques (pranayama), and natural therapies for managing lifestyle disorders. The camps were well-attended by students, faculty, and residents from nearby villages, fostering a culture of preventive healthcare and mental well-being.

Outcomes: The camps successfully raised awareness about the importance of yoga and naturopathy in managing lifestyle-related health concerns and enhancing well-being. Participants gained practical insights into preventive healthcare and began incorporating simple techniques into their daily lives. The initiative reinforced the university's role in community health outreach and promoted a culture of holistic wellness. It also fostered stronger connections between the university and the local population. The sessions encouraged participants to seek natural, sustainable alternatives for health management. Moreover, the positive feedback from attendees highlighted the need for more such initiatives in the region.

Workshops on Local Dialects and Endangered Languages

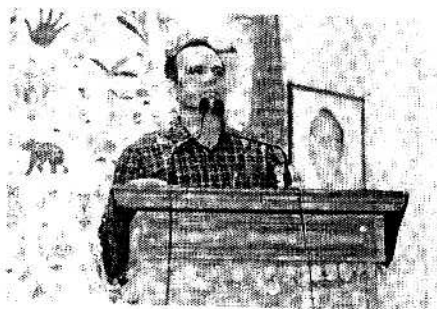

17-07-2022

Date: 15/07/2022

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: On 15th July 2022, Shobhit University, Gangoh conducted a workshop dedicated to the preservation and appreciation of local dialects and endangered languages. The program brought together linguists, regional scholars, and cultural activists who introduced participants to the phonetics, grammar, vocabulary, and oral traditions of lesser-known dialects. Participants engaged in interactive sessions, storytelling, and group discussions on the sociocultural significance of linguistic diversity. The workshop aimed to highlight the urgency of documenting and preserving these dialects as part of India's intangible cultural heritage, while encouraging academic and community collaboration in these efforts.

Outcome: The workshop strengthened community engagement and fostered a sense of pride in linguistic diversity. It promoted inclusiveness by encouraging recognition and respect for regional language identities. Participants gained valuable knowledge about endangered dialects and were motivated to contribute to their documentation and preservation. The initiative also aligned with the university's broader commitment to cultural heritage awareness and linguistic research.

Gender Equity Programs

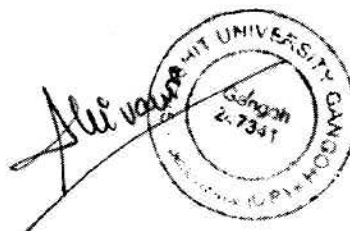

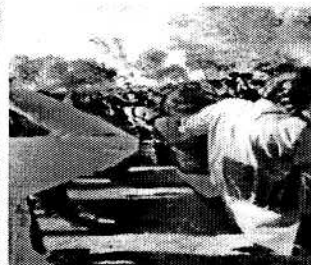

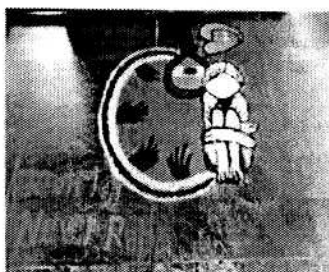

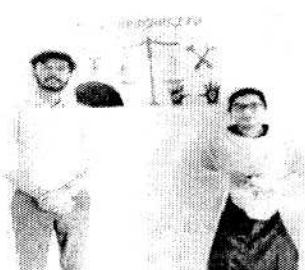

30-08-2022

Date: 29/08/2022

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: On 29th November 2022, Shobhit University, Gangoh conducted Gender Equity Programs aimed at cultivating a more inclusive, equitable, and gender-sensitive academic environment. The initiative featured panel discussions with subject experts, gender-themed film screenings, and interactive gender audits. Participants explored topics such as gender roles, unconscious biases, and the importance of women's representation in leadership and decision-making. Students and faculty members actively engaged in open dialogue, shared experiences, and proposed actionable solutions to address institutional and societal gender disparities. The program aligned with the university's ongoing commitment to gender sensitization, equality, and inclusive growth.

Outcome: The program promoted inclusiveness and diversity by initiating meaningful conversations around gender equity, leadership, and representation. It enhanced community engagement by involving both students and faculty in evaluating and improving gender dynamics on campus. Participants gained deeper awareness of the impact of gender-based biases and were encouraged to advocate for equality in their personal and professional spheres. The initiative contributed to fostering a more respectful, balanced, and empowering educational environment.

Women's Day, Self-defense training, Gender sensitization workshops

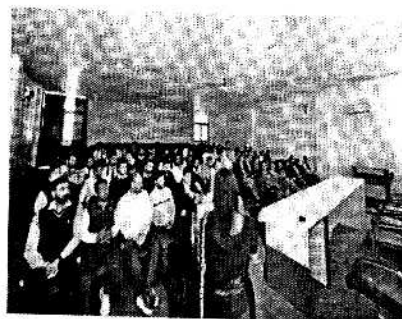

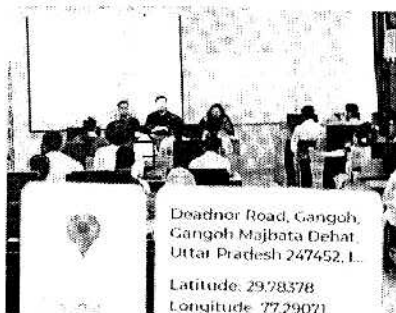

11-01-2023

Date: 10/01/2023

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: On 10th January 2023, Shobhit University, Gangoh organized an integrated series of programs including Women's Day celebrations, self-defense training sessions, and gender sensitization workshops to promote empowerment, safety, and gender equity. The self-defense training focused on martial arts techniques and real-life safety strategies designed to equip students—particularly women—with tools for personal protection. Parallely, gender sensitization workshops addressed issues of workplace conduct, gender rights, legal protections, and the importance of fostering equitable spaces. Expert trainers and guest speakers led engaging discussions on women's leadership, confidence-building, and social justice, encouraging students to become agents of change within their communities.

Outcome: The initiatives promoted inclusiveness and gender awareness by empowering participants with practical knowledge and skills related to safety, equity, and leadership. They fostered a culture of mutual respect and sensitivity toward gender issues on campus. The active involvement of students and faculty contributed to a more informed and vigilant university environment. Additionally, the program strengthened community engagement by addressing pressing social concerns and encouraging collective responsibility for gender justice.

Mental Health and Well-being Seminars

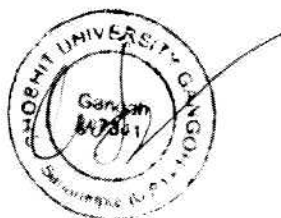

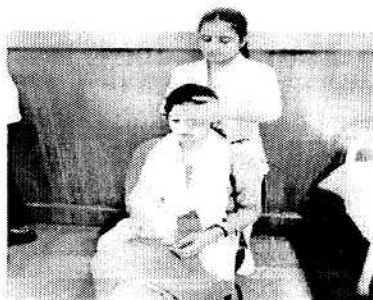

15-02-2023

Date: 14/02/2023

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: On 14th February 2023, Shobhit University, Gangoh conducted Mental Health and Well-being Seminars in collaboration with professional psychologists and psychiatrists to address the growing need for mental wellness among students. The sessions focused on identifying academic stressors, developing emotional resilience, and practicing effective coping mechanisms for anxiety and burnout. Experts provided practical guidance on managing exam-related pressure and maintaining a healthy academic-life balance. Interactive discussions helped students better understand mental health concerns, break stigmas associated with seeking help, and access available counseling services on campus. The initiative also highlighted the importance of self-care and peer support networks in promoting psychological well-being.

Outcome: The program promoted inclusiveness and emotional well-being by fostering open and stigma-free discussions around mental health. It strengthened community engagement by creating a safe and supportive platform for students to voice their challenges and concerns. Students gained practical tools for stress management and increased awareness of professional mental health resources available on campus. The initiative contributed to building a compassionate, emotionally resilient, and mentally healthy university environment.
