One-week Ideation Workshop

24-02-2025

Dates: 18–22 February 2025

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: The One-week Ideation Workshop organized by the SU-AICTE IDEA Lab at Shobhit University, Gangoh, was a dynamic and immersive initiative designed to stimulate innovation, design thinking, and entrepreneurial creativity among students. Held from 18th to 22nd February 2025, the workshop featured expert-led sessions, group brainstorming activities, and problem-solving challenges that encouraged students to reimagine solutions for real-world problems. Participants from diverse disciplines collaborated on ideation modules covering sustainable technologies, user-centric design, and start-up fundamentals. The event served as a launchpad for creative exploration, fostering an environment of hands-on learning, mentorship, and interdisciplinary engagement.

Outcome: The workshop empowered students with practical innovation skills and a structured approach to ideation and solution design. Over the course of five days, multiple student team's conceptualized impactful ideas, with several selected for further mentoring under the university's innovation ecosystem. The event promoted critical thinking, teamwork, and innovation-driven problem-solving—skills essential for both academic growth and entrepreneurial pursuits. It also reinforced the role of the SU-AICTE IDEA Lab as a centre for experiential learning and contributed meaningfully to the university's mission of promoting entrepreneurship and applied research.

National Science Day 2025

01-03-2025

Date: 28 February 2025

Theme: "Building Public Trust in Science"

Description: Shobhit University, Gangoh, celebrated National Science Day 2025 with the theme "Building Public Trust in Science," organizing an engaging event to promote scientific awareness and innovation among students and the community. The program featured keynote lectures by eminent scientists, interactive workshops, hands-on experiments, and poster presentations, all aimed at fostering a deeper appreciation for evidence-based research and its societal impact. By encouraging dialogue between researchers, educators, and the public, the university reinforced its commitment to advancing scientific literacy and trust in STEM fields. This event not only honoured the legacy of Sir C.V. Raman but also aligned with University's emphasis on quality education, research, and community engagement, further strengthening the institution's academic mission. The event paid tribute to Sir C.V. Raman's contributions while reaffirming the university's commitment to fostering a culture of scientific curiosity, innovation, and responsible research. It also provided a platform for meaningful dialogue between researchers, educators, and students, promoting collaboration and scientific outreach.

Outcome: The event successfully increased awareness about the role of science in societal progress and highlighted the importance of evidence-based thinking. It sparked student interest in research, encouraged inquiry-based learning, and facilitated cross-disciplinary interactions. Student-led experiments and presentations fostered ownership of learning and promoted public speaking and communication skills. Several innovative student projects were shortlisted for institutional mentoring and external science competitions. Overall, the celebration reinforced Shobhit University's vision to cultivate a scientifically literate and innovation-driven academic environment.

Expert Talk – "Shakti and The Law"

Date: 8 March 2025

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: Shobhit University, Gangoh, organized an expert talk titled "Shakti and The Law" on 8th March 2025, commemorating International Women's Day. The event delved into the confluence of Indian Vedic jurisprudence, contemporary legal frameworks, and women's rights. Featuring distinguished legal experts, activists, and scholars, the session explored gender empowerment, legal protections, and the evolving landscape of women-centric legislation in India. Case studies, panel discussions, and interactive Q&A sessions encouraged critical engagement with issues of justice, equality, and constitutional safeguards. The program aimed to sensitize students to legal literacy and gender justice, fostering a deeper understanding of the role of law in creating equitable societies.

Outcome: The expert talk enhanced legal awareness and gender sensitivity among students and faculty. It empowered participants to think critically about women's rights within historical and modern legal contexts. The event stimulated dialogue on advocacy, equity, and the need for continued reforms to uphold gender justice. Students expressed increased interest in social justice initiatives and legal activism, with many signing up for future workshops on legal literacy and human rights. The session aligned with the university's vision of promoting inclusive education and leadership rooted in social responsibility. The interactive nature of the discussions encouraged active participation, especially among female students who shared their perspectives on lived experiences. The talk also served as a valuable sensitization platform for future professionals, promoting empathy and legal consciousness in academic and social spheres.

Reverse Coding Competition

01-04-2025

Date: 29th March 2025

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: Shobhit University, Gangoh, hosted an intellectually stimulating Reverse Coding Competition on 29th March 2025, aimed at promoting computational logic, analytical reasoning, and algorithmic thinking among students. Unlike conventional coding challenges, this competition required participants to interpret output patterns and reconstruct the logic behind them—an approach that emphasized reverse engineering, debugging skills, and logical accuracy. The event provided a platform for students to demonstrate their coding abilities in real-time under competitive conditions, encouraging innovation and precision. It was organized as part of the university's commitment to fostering hands-on, outcome-based learning experiences in alignment with 21st-century skill requirements.

Outcome: The competition significantly enhanced students' critical thinking and problem-solving skills, particularly in the domain of logic-based coding. Participants gained confidence in interpreting and debugging complex code structures, which are key competencies in software development and technical careers. Several top-performing students were identified for further mentorship under the university's coding excellence initiative. The event promoted healthy academic competition and encouraged peer learning through group-based problem analysis and solution sharing. It also reinforced the university's emphasis on skill-based, innovative pedagogy and contributed to its vision of producing industry-ready graduates with strong analytical capabilities.

STEM RS – Pre-Placement Training Workshop (Module 01)

Date: 5 April 2025

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: As part of its career readiness initiative, Shobhit University, Gangoh, conducted STEM RS – Pre-Placement Training Workshop (Module 01) on 5th April 2025, focusing on essential employability skills for final-year students. This module aimed to prepare students for upcoming placement drives through intensive training on resume writing, interview etiquette, communication skills, and aptitude development. Facilitated by industry professionals and corporate trainers, the session provided practical guidance and mock simulations to bridge the gap between academic learning and professional expectations. The workshop was part of a series designed to empower students with the tools needed for successful career transitions.

Outcome: The workshop significantly boosted students' confidence and awareness regarding recruitment processes and industry expectations. Participants gained hands-on experience in resume optimization, personal branding, and communication techniques. Real-time feedback during mock interviews helped them identify and improve key areas of performance. The session fostered a sense of professionalism and readiness among students, laying a strong foundation for subsequent training modules. It also reinforced the university's commitment to enhancing student employability and building future-ready graduates.

Event: Pre-Placement Training Workshop – Module 02

Date: 26 April 2025

Venue: Shobhit University, Gangoh

Description: Shobhit University, Gangoh, conducted Pre-Placement Training Workshop Module 02 on 26th April 2025, as part of its structured pre-placement program under the STEM RS initiative. The session was tailored to develop critical competencies required for campus recruitment, with a special focus on group discussion (GD) strategies, interview readiness, and psychometric evaluation techniques. Expert trainers engaged students in practical GD simulations, mock interviews, and resume review exercises, complemented by insights into employer expectations and recruitment trends. The workshop emphasized confidence building, articulation, and peer assessment, preparing students for high-stakes hiring environments and corporate communication standards.

Outcome: The workshop enhanced students' preparedness for recruitment by strengthening their articulation, reasoning, and decision-making skills in group settings. Participants demonstrated measurable improvement in confidence and clarity of thought during GD and interview simulations. Constructive feedback from trainers helped students refine their communication techniques and body language. The session also introduced students to psychometric testing frameworks, encouraging self-awareness and strategic preparation. Overall, the workshop marked a significant step in Shobhit University's efforts toward building a robust placement readiness ecosystem and developing competent, industry-aligned graduates.
